

So when the world was FAST ASLEEP,

we cleft outside and SCARIED into the sky.

We were HAPPY together.

LO: I can write a letter from the dragon's point of view.

Starter:

What things do you think the dragon would want to say to Alex?

Mrs Hughes' example:

Dear Alex,

It's me your fiery, crimson dragon. I have been having the best time flying round on my adventures but it is very different without you.

Yesterday I flew so fast, I flew straight from night time into morning! I found myself by a beautiful, sandy white beach where I sat and watched the sunrise. It was as red as my scales and the pretty sunlight glittered over the oceans dancing waves. I really wish you could have been there to see it with me!

Thank you so much for feeding me, bathing me and keeping me safe in your house until I was brave enough to fly on my own! Maybe one day soon we could have another adventure? I'd like that!

Miss you,
Your friend Dragon x x

What special techniques can you see that Mrs Hughes has used?

Task:

Write your own letter as Dragon

You could:

- Share with Alex what you have been doing
- Tell Alex you miss him
- Say thank you for looking after me
- DON'T FORGET!!!
Don't forget to use the correct letter format when you are writing!
