

Explore first, then, now stories where the first part is unknown.
Close your eyes and ask a friend to hide some toys under a box.
Then add some more toys to the group.

How many toys are in the box now?
How many toys were added into the box?
How many toys must you have started with?