

Friday 29th January 2021.

John Ray (1628-1705) is one of the earliest English botanist who wrote important works on botany and classified plants according to similarities and differences from observations. He wants to discover and name garden plants in your garden - can you help him?

BIG Question - what garden plants can you discover and name? What is the most common? Prove it!

